ALPH HUSBAND IS DEAD

Well Known Local Man Passed Away
at Home in Cumberland, Md., and Will be Brought Here for Burial;
McKay-Murphy Wedding Wednesday

By Associated Press.
MOUNT PLEASANT, May 18.—
Ancie Lessig, aged 18 months, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lessig of Parfittown rode down the rear steps at his home last evening starting the go cart his mother
had set him in at the top of the stairs.
The baby fell to the bottom of the steps, where it pitched through a window. The baby was taken to the Memorial Hospital where face and scalp lacerations were dressed. The child is now resting easy at the hospital. Dr. J. W. Snelar dressed his wounds.

Ralph Husband.
Ralph Husband, eldest son of Mr.
and Mrs. John Husband of East Main street, died very suddenly at his home yesterday afternoon. The body will be brought here today and funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of John Husband. Interment will be made in the local cemetery. Mr.
Husband is survived by his wife and three children, his father, two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Overholt of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Irene Husband at home, and one brother, Elmer. He was one of the best known young men in this city and in a wide circle of friends here. Several years ago he moved to Cumberland, Md., where he became engaged in business.

McKay-Murphy.
Miss Nellie McKay of Pittsburg became the wife of Thomas Murphy of Lippe street in St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Ackett, with five small cousins and nephews of the groom as altar boys. Miss Eleanor Murphy and John Murphy, sister and brother of the groom, were their only attendants.
The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a large white hat with strich feather trimmings. Miss Murphy wore a gown of pink crepe-line and carried pink sweet peas.
After the wedding ceremony, 50 guests were present at a breakfast given at the home of the bridegroom. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Finnegan of New Salem;
Mrs. Walter Hartman and Miss Anna
Jennings of Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs.
David Roberts of Springtown; Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Noyes of Scotland;
Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnston of Pittsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left for a western trip and on their return will reside here.

Grin Reaper Active.
Anna, one year old daughter of Stephen Brodier of Rainey works, who lived at her home there, was buried in the Slavish cemetery yesterday.

Andy Fueskar, aged 78, died at his lodging farm and will be buried at the Ranger Slovak cemetery on Saturday.

Father Pikensky, who was the parish priest at the local Polish Catholic Church for years, died at Carnegie, Pa., and will be brought by J. W. Rele-man, funeral director, to the Polish church on Friday afternoon, from which place he will be buried in the Polish cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

sition at the West Penn power plant.

TWO MOTHERS TESTIFY

How Their Sickly Children Were Made
Strong and Well.

"For six years our little girl suffered from a bronchial trouble, she had no appetite, could not sleep and was so nervous we had to keep her out of school. The doctors said nothing but a change of climate would help her. We were discouraged, when one day a friend asked us to try Virol, and after taking six bottles she does not look like the same child. She has a fine appetite, is lively, healthy and well, and Virol did it all."
—Mrs. F. E. Hufford, Iola, Kas.

Another child made strong:—
"The measles left my little girl thin and delicate, and the doctor's medicine did not seem to build her up. I read about Virol and got a bottle, and her improvement was rapid, her strength returned and she is now as well as ever." —Mrs. E. Linot, Pittsburg, Pa.

We ask every Connellsville mother of a frail, sickly, ailing child to try Virol on our guarantee to return their money if it does not restore her child's normal health.

Come tomorrow prepared to spend a pleasant
half hour—prepared to be thrilled by phonograph music as you were never thrilled before! Beautifully appointed new Demonstrating Rooms—everything for your comfort, convenience and pleasure.

Introducing The World's Greatest Phonograph

We were in no hurry in establishing a phonograph department in our store. We took our time. We wanted to be sure. We looked well and carefully before we leaped!

Claims of phonograph superiority were flying around thick and fast. We weren't influenced by claims. We wanted to see for ourselves. We studied this machine and that machine. We went into them and over them from A to Z. We were mighty particular, because it was a question of pleasing our customers! We believe that a pleased customer is a store's best asset. We wanted to be absolutely sure that our customers would be pleased with the phonograph they purchased at our store.

In a sense we are selfish in this matter. If you are thoroughly pleased with the phonograph we sell you, we have won your good will—a grand chance to sell you additional goods such as furniture and rugs!

We selected the PATHE as the best—the best for YOU! The best phonograph and the best records!

Pathephone Illustrated Above is the Famous "Professional" $125
Model, at - - - - $125

It is the Favorite Pathephone of Muratore, the World's Greatest Tenor.

Few phonographs at double its price have such volume.
It has the famous Pathe "violin" sound chamber of resonant wood, which amplifies and enriches every shading, every note, every delicate detail of the music as it comes from the large diaphragm of the Pathe "reproducer."

It has a strong, long-running motor of a type usually found only in phonographs costing much more.

The Death-Knell of the Old-Fashioned Steel
Needle Has Been Sounded!

The Pathe Sapphire Ball

Means "No Needles To Change"!

Instead of being played with the old-fashion
STEEL NEEDLE the Pathe is played with a round, smooth SAPPHIRE BALL.

The difference not alone effects the PLAYING
QUALITY of the record, but the LIFE of the record
as well.

The old-fashioned sharp-pointed STEEL
NEEDLE digs into and rips the record, soon SCRATCHING AWAY the original tone effect and eventually WEARING OUT the record completely.

The Pathe SAPPHIRE BALL is round and smooth. It doesn't DIG, it doesn't RIP, it doesn't SCRATCH.

The Pathe Sapphire Ball rides gently UP AND DOWN over Pathe Records, producing 40 PER CENT GREATER TONE VALUE and WITHOUT wearing away the record in even the slightest sense.

WHICH NOT ALONE MEANS THAT YOU HAVE ELIMINATED THE GREAT NUISANCE OF CON-STANTLY CHANGING STEEL NEEDLES, BUT AL-SO THAT YOUR PATHE RECORDS DO NOT WEAR OUT.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 18, 1917.

THE ONLY DISCREDT.

If there be those whose age makes them subject to the operation of the selective draft who are consulting themselves with the thought that they will not be obliged to report on registration

day, now is a good time to begin working this idea out of their minds.

It is not provided that a squad of soldiers or a detail of police officers will be sent out to round up those who fail to report of their own accord at the place of registration. Every man to whom the registration law is applicable will be expected to attend to the duty "equally without the necessity of compulsion of any kind other than the gentle compulsion of performing his full duty to his country.

The registrars have no power or authority to make exemptions or to show favoritism in any way. The law in this respect is specific and clear and self-executing. Every man within the age limits fixed by the selective service provision must register and on the day to be fixed for that purpose.

The penalty for evasion of the law will fall not only on the man who fails to appear, but upon any member of the registration board who may be shown to be in collusion with the person who attempts to evade his duty. The law provides the penalty of imprisonment

with no alternative of a fine for violations of its provisions.

The power of the registration boards

begins and ends with the registration of men subject to draft. The subsequent operations of the selective draft,

general exemptions and selection for service will be under the regulation and control of army officers. When the registration is completed a list of those registered will be posted in each registration district and the government expects any citizen who may know of any evasion to make prompt

report of them to the proper authorities.

Voluntary registration will be as honorable recognition of one's duty

to their country as voluntary enlistment

in the military service. It is a service which is all that the volunteer who enlists can do. Out of those registered

only a certain number will be drafted,

but those who are not chosen will have the consciousness of having performed their duty through having registered themselves subject to a selection for service. The only discredit will lie with those who may think they can successfully evade the obligation

others will have willingly assumed.

SHOULD NOT DISCRIMINATE.

It is one rule of business that large businesses are entitled to the lowest prices. It is another rule that the buyers of equal quantities are entitled to the same price. So universal has become the application of these rules that no business establishment

regards it as just when it gives a discount to a customer who buys in large quantities. The buying and selling public are the people unorganized in commercial transaction, therefore, a special favor to government is unjustly discriminating against some of its citizens by compelling them to sell at a loss. In like manner the individual or corporation offering to sell to the government at a less price than to the general public practically admits that it is charging the general public too much, or is making a sacrifice which the government in good conscience has no right to accept.

IDLENESS MUST BE BANNED.

Public opinion is becoming more and more crystallized on the proposition that loafing and idleness must be banned. At this time when extraordinary demands are being made upon all our energies and resources there is no place in the economy of things for people who will not do their share. The call to service in all of its many lines is being answered with such willingness upon the part of the people of America who are giving patriotism first place in their lives, and the help of all is so urgently needed that no drones can be tolerated in the great, busy hive of business and industry. Public opinion is demanding as a measure of national necessity that idleness must cease among the rich as well as among the poor.

This sentiment is already finding expression in action in many localities. West Virginia is perhaps the first state which has given executive sanction to the demand that legislative action be taken to make applicable a certain modification of the Mosaic law. "If a man will not work, neither shall he eat." In his message to an extraordinary session of the legislature Governor Connally gave a straightforward utterance on this question.

"Idleness must be penalized," he said. "Public sentiment should be so aroused that it will be impossible for the idle person to live content in any community. In this crisis idleness is unpatriotic. The early Colonists adopted the rule. Those who do not work shall not eat. We may not want to enforce that rule by legislative enactment now, but some appropriate measure should be passed dealing with the problem and public sentiment should be invoked to drive the idler to the field or the factory or the mine."

There is no community that will decline to approve such an expression of sentiment upon this subject. In fact, the tempo of the public is becoming such that something must be done along the line of applying that sort of selective conscription to the army of idlers which will draft every member of it without exception or exemption, into useful service of some sort.

The drive of General Ingle upon Russia has failed even more miserably than Hindenburg's drive on the western front.

Why not a dot carter, with 1000 from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M. every 24 hours?

Connellsville's young boys are swelling the ranks with the same aim. The old boys did when they were young.

If too old or too young to enlist as a soldier, you are not too old or too young to enlist your pocket book. Buy a Liberty bond.

The Hindenburg line appears to be not only collapsible but reversible. The front gives indications of becoming the rear.

Singular that none but Republican Congressmen are resigning or planning to resign in order to become soldiers.

Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg evidently believes that making peace the dispensing charity should begin at home.

Thrill, Not Hysteria

Do not mistake heading for thrill! Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, told the women of the Capitol Garden Club of Washington D. C. the other day.

I met people every day, continued the man who has made the garden planting campaign nation wide who have missed the point entirely in this food crisis. The other day a woman told me she had a charged her chauffeur and sold her automobile. She said she was trying to save.

I told her she was doing her level best to damn her country. Now suppose all you women stopped wearing a flower in your hair or a bit of lace about your neck. Do you know what that would mean to the workers of the country and to the grocers they buy from? It would mean ruin.

Out allies do not want the flower in your hair or the lace from your neck. They want just a little of your food. That is the place for conservation now.

Let all go to it as never before and keep business going as usual for that is a mighty good slogan. The National Emergency Food Garden Commission wants to help you produce food. O. D. the kitchen doot and thus relieve the railroads of transportation of food for home consumption as much as possible in order that they may do other things for the government.

In other words do not let hysteria and heading be mistaken for thrill in so far as the food question affects us.

SURGERY.

Surgery is a branch of medicine which started in an orchard and has wound up as the main stem. It is one of the most beneficent forms of human endeavor. It usually takes the patient strong enough to express his gratitude but too weak to protest against the use of the knife.

This year two surgeons were seldom required to save in cases where the patient had broken both legs in three places and could not be supported by the murmur of his mother. He was the son of a three or four of the neighborhood and a lumpy physician.

Surgeons have taken great strides in recent years chiefly due to the use of the X-ray. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body.

One of the greatest achievements of modern surgery is the removal of the gall bladder. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body. It is a machine which is used to see what is going on inside the body.

It was then set upon by three or four of the neighborhood and restored to his original contour. The patient is able to take his solid food except vegetable soup. He is now in the hospital. He is now in the hospital. He is now in the hospital.

the patient is able to take his solid food except vegetable soup. He is now in the hospital. He is now in the hospital. He is now in the hospital.

Surgey is performed with the great aid of X-ray and non-invasive in hospitals where the patients are out of the number and operated on in the hospital. The hospitals of this country have multiplied so rapidly in recent years that it is difficult to find a place to make a trip to London or Paris or Berlin in order to get an education in surgery.

MRS. KIESO SICK SEVEN MONTHS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with back and sides aches, in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I was entirely unfit to do my housework, I was giving up hope of ever being well, when my sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for themselves how good it is."—Mrs. CARL A. KIESO, 506 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

The great number of unsolicited testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratories, many of which are from time to time published by permission, are proof of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, in the treatment of female ills.

Every suffering woman in the United States is cordially invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

KOBACKER'S "THE BIG STORE" ON PITTSBURGH ST.

ITALY WANTS COAL

Mission Now in This Country to Arrange for a Supply from America.

One of the purposes of the Italian mission now in this country is to arrange for a supply of coal to be shipped across the Atlantic.

Up until this time Italy has depended almost entirely upon England for her coal and shipping facilities. With the growth of the submarine menace, however, England now is able only to care for her own needs. It Italy is to be saved from a coal famine, the United States must ship millions and millions of tons to her through the Mediterranean bottoms. The coal supply of Italy is now almost exhausted. The kingdom has less than enough fuel for military purposes alone.

RICHEST NATION IN THE WORLD

Wealth of Nation Strengthens the Bank.

As all the nations of the world are brought into direct comparison by reason of the world war, it has been noted that the United States is the richest nation on the globe. Our financial system is unexcelled and our National Banks are strong and safe. There is no fear of financial difficulties. Resources are abundant. Whatever part the United States may take in the war, it will be safely backed with enormous wealth. There will be a sound policy, with no war debt to hamper future generations and injure National Credit. As a National Bank and a member of the Federal Reserve System, this Bank will share the general financial security of this country.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"AS MEN LOVE"—A powerful five part Pathé-Paramount attraction starring House Peters and Myrtle Steadman, is being shown today. Miss Steadman is a talented actress and star in her own right, while Mr. Peters for some time past has been one of the most popular of the main photodramatic stars. The story of "As Men Love" deals with modern society and the enduring friendship of one man for another. They have been chums since boyhood, and have shared each other's sorrows and joys. One of them marries but the wife is a frivolous society woman, he feels that she is in love with the other man. Aroused by the chum's attention to her sister-in-law, she throws herself into his arms where she is discovered by her husband. How the friendship and love of the two chums is broken, by the chum assuming the blame for the wife's caprices, how they endure separation and how they finally are reunited through the illness of a little child goes to make a story that is the most compelling and unusual. Miss Steadman as a society woman has an opportunity to display many of her beautiful gowns of the latest fashion, and the scenes at their home and at the fashionable "the dances" are presented with the usual Pathé lavishness in detail. Tomorrow, William S. Hart the popular screen star will appear in "The Desert Man" in a somewhat different role than those he has lately portrayed. The story is a tale of the Mojave desert with Hart in the role of a grim, firm lipped man, who brings prosperity to the desolate town of Broken Hope because he has faith and energy to accomplish big things.

ARCADIA THEATRE.

As the closing bill of the week's engagement the G. A. Lyon's "Amateur Maids" company will be the presentation of "The Kissing Mice," a jolly musical comedy full of pop. This superb company of talented artists have delighted the vaudeville lovers of this city with two very strong bills but the one selected for today and tomorrow promises to eclipse either of the former. Clean, wholesome comedy, enlivened with popular songs and dances by the beauty chorus of seven girls is sure to be a winner.

For the first three days of next week four acts of straight vaudeville will be on the boards headed by Jimmie Russell's Singing and Dancing Revue. This is a big feature act which the management has secured for the Arcade and is composed of four girls and Jimmie. Clarence Wilbur, comedian, is the second act, Marsh and Lawrence, man and woman, in a singing, dancing and juggling act is sure to please Helen Keely, novelty boxer and bag punching expert, will demonstrate the ability of the female sex to do feats of physical culture.

Feature photoplays with Frank Daniels and Hughie Mack will round out the strongest vaudeville bill of the present season.

SONNISON THEATRE.

"THE FIREMAN"—A two reel comedy, featuring Charlie Chaplin, will be shown today. Also "Hearst's Pathé Weekly" and other good pictures. Tomorrow, Carlisle Blackwell, June Elvidge appear in the principle roles in "The Social Loner." The situations show the great lengths gone to by a desperate woman who seeks to encourage a man with whom she has become infatuated. Needless to say this drama is enthralling and interesting from start to finish. Arthur Askey and Evelyn Greeley appear in the cast.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"BROADWAY JONES"—Serving to introduce George M. Cohan to the picture world, both as a comedian and author, is scintillated with some of the best feature comedies. Mr. Cohan's personality is a big consideration. In this play he is constantly making the best of any situation that comes along—always looking for the silver lining in every cloud. This will be shown today and tomorrow. "Aerial Joy Riders," a two reel comedy, will also be shown.

DISTRIBUTION OF COAL MAY BE FOR USES OF WAR ONLY

In Case Production is Not Increased and Cars Kept Moving.

COAL COMMITTEE'S PLEA

For Speeding-up and For Complete Cooperation Between Producers and Employees and the Transportation Interests, or Regulation Will Come.

Among the coal operators named by the Council of National Defense as members of the Committee on Coal Production are W. W. Kiefer, of the Pittsburgh Coal company, representing Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan; E. E. Ramsey, of Birmingham, Ala., a former Conneltsville region manager and engineer, to represent Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina, and E. L. Pierce, of Somerset-Solway company, Syracuse, to represent the by-product coke industry. The committee has organized with Francis S. Feabody, of Chicago, chairman. This necessity for an increase in production and improvement in the distribution and movement of cars being regarded as imperative. Chairman Feabody has issued an appeal to coal producers and their employees as follows:

"The country at the present time is confronted with a great emergency. Notwithstanding the increased production of coal from practically every district, the increasing requirements to meet the needs of all classes of industry, as well as for the comfort and welfare of the people and the transportation of troops, munitions, food, and other products, together with the supplying of our allies, and for our national protection—all these demands are liable to surpass the capacity of our mines unless the full cooperation of the mining, transporting, and distributing agencies of this country is secured. This emergency requires not only the development of the highest efficiency, especially on account of a diminished supply of labor used in the production of coal, but also in more comprehensive methods of cooperation by the coal producers with the transporting and distributing agencies, so that not only a full production will be secured, but right of way over our railroads into those centers where the most urgent need exists.

If the demand for this product continues to increase it may be necessary that active steps be taken to so far as possible confine the distribution and use of it to those activities which are more nearly vital to the welfare and protection of the nation. That this may not affect an unnecessary hardship upon the domestic welfare of our people it is necessary to promote the closest cooperation, and because of the duty laid upon us to promote this welfare we urge upon you that you cooperate with this committee in its efforts to promote the largest production, the most equitable distribution, and the highest use to produce the best economic results. No doubt an emergency exists, but it is the belief of this committee that with your hearty support and the assistance of the public in conserving supply, sufficient fuel can be had to meet public necessity.

"We believe that the first essential toward an increased production of coal is a close cooperation between mine employer and mine employee, and inasmuch as the United Mine Workers of America and the mine operators in several districts have already pledged by joint resolutions to the Council of National Defense, under whom this committee works, and have nominated committees, the services of which have been offered to the Council of National Defense to this end, we now call upon the several committees to use their best and continued efforts to increase, in so far as they are able, the production of coal for the public necessities by keeping the mines continuously at work, avoiding labor disputes and unnecessary shutdowns.

"The operation of well-established mines should not be impeded and we suggest and urge that the practice of moving miners from the mines in well-established producing companies or communities to other districts be discontinued, as this practice creates a state of unrest and tends to decrease the total output of coal, interfering with the stability of the industry which is unnecessary for the highest efficiency. An effort should be made to install in the mind of the individual miner and operator, as well as the organized body, the necessity of individual effort and continuous performance so far as work is offered. The miner or the company's representative who remains at work renders as patriotic service as the man at the front.

"The total production of coal throughout the country has been seriously curtailed by difficulties in transportation services and unequal distribution of cars, resulting in shortage in the number of cars available for loading, as well as congestion in the avenues leading to the points of distribution. We urge upon the operators that they pledge themselves to load all cars obtainable in the shortest time after the same become available, and that they further take up and urge their customers to release these cars at the earliest possible date after delivery so as to make them available for further use without unnecessary delay, and that all practices such as unnecessary holding of cars for reconsignment or other purposes be discontinued except when absolutely necessary for the public welfare.

"Transportation interests of this country have, at the suggestion of the Council of National Defense, formed a committee appointed by the council, whose duty it is to coordinate and promote the efficiency of our railroads and by agreement with the heads of

Safety vs. More Interest

THE prudent investor is the man who places the safety of the money he invests ahead of the rate of interest he receives. A $1000 speculative bond, for instance, may pay as much as 8% while a safe investment bond, costing just as much, pays only 5%. Buy the latter and you are sure of your principal. Buy the former and you get 3% more—but you may lose the principal—$1000. In other words, in order to get 3% more each year, you deliberately risk losing an amount which you would not have gained, in increased interest, at the end of thirty years. Is this good business? Ask your banker.

THE DANGERS OF ELECTRICITY

In Mines Pointed by Chief Roderick as Result of a Number of Recent Accidents Arising from This Source.
Several rather serious explosions having occurred recently in the coal mines of Pennsylvania, due, it is supposed, to some defect in the electrical installation or to carelessness in the use of electrical equipment, the Department of Mines has issued instructions to the inspectors in both the anthracite and bituminous regions to give the most careful attention to this comparatively new element of danger.
In the bituminous mines where gas is a constant menace to the employees, the special rules for the installation and use of electricity as contained in the Act of 1911, must be strictly enforced by the inspectors, and, while the department has no disposition to charge the operators with any neglect in complying with these rules, the frequent troubles in the mines due to the use of electricity have made necessary a more vigorous enforcement of the law on this subject. The great activity in mining operations at the present time adds somewhat to the dangers of the occupation, and more careful supervision is imperative.

In his letter to the bituminous inspectors Chief Roderick says:
"In view of recent fatal accidents due to the misuse of electricity in gaseous mines, you are hereby directed to make special inspection of any gaseous mine or portion of a gaseous mine in which electricity is used in any form."
"You will see that all the provisions of Article 11 pertaining to the use of electricity in gaseous mines, that tend to safeguard human life, are fully complied with. If you find any gaseous or portion of a gaseous mine in which the provisions of Article 11 are not being complied with, you are hereby instructed to enforce compliance at once, and if any mine foreman refuses or fails to comply with your instructions, you will report his name to the department, and you will then be given further instructions as to what action to take.

"If in your opinion any delay on your part in enforcing compliance might jeopardize human life, you will act immediately and then make report to the department as to what you have done. If further action is then needed you will be instructed accordingly."

BACK IN '87 THEY KILLED THE BALL

Records Show Fifteen Players
Batted Over .400.

COBB LAST TO TURN TRICK

All Told, There Have Been Thirty-one Diamond Artists Who Have Hit For
.400 or Better Since Big Show Was Organized—Seven Have Been Re-peaters.

What do you know about a baseball season that produced fifteen pastimes
with a batting average of .400 or better? You guessed right. It happened in the older days of big league pastimes. In the days of which grandfather likes to tell how they picked the pill.

Thirty years ago the National league and the American association held the spotlight in baseball, as do the National and American leagues today. It was then—in 1887, to be exact—that the hardest hitting on record came to pass. In that year the American association records showed eleven players
with a batting average of .400 or better. The players were O'Neil, Caruthers and Robinson of St. Louis; Brown, Lind and Meek of Louisville; Lyons and Stovey of the Athletics; Bedford and Ory of the Metropolitans; Burns of Baltimore and Hirsch of Brooklyn.

The same season the National league kicked in with a quartet of hitting in the .400 set, the players being Anson of Chicago, Ferguson of Philadelphia and Boutwell and Thompson of Detroit.

Only once since the memorable season of 1887 have there been more than two .400 hitters in one year. In 1894 Duffy of Boston, Thompson of Detroit and Delahanty and Turner of Philadelphia singled their way into the champion circle. Since 1912, the last time Ty Cobb turned the trick, no big time leader has hit for .400.

It would seem that the National league gave up the business of developing .400 hitters when the American league came into existence. The present organization hasn't even a .400 hitter since 1887, when Ed Plakany and Jesse Burkett hit for the high mark.
Three American leaguers—Fajola, Cobb and Jackson—have turned in a season's batting card with an average of .400 or better.

All told there have been thirty-one pastimes who have hit for the .400 or better since the big show was organized. Seven have been repeaters, among them Ross Barnes and Jesse Burkett, who stayed in the .400 set three seasons, and Ty Cobb and Ed Delahanty, Sam Thompson, Pop Anson
and Harry Stovey, with records of two seasons.

Ty Cobb is the only present day
player who stacks up with the old time sluggers. Ty may not be so wicked with the bat, but he is a great grandfather. He will have to admit that his batting average year to year compares favorably with that of the old boys.
Today a .400 club is indeed a rare bird. Perhaps some pastime of the future will hit his way to fame, but in all probability when Ty passes out of the big yard he will take back to Georgia the last of the major league
.400 batting marks.

BALL PLAYER NOW MAYOR.

Hickman Held American League Record For Hitting as a First Baseman.

Charles Hickman, who holds the American league record for hitting as a first baseman and who for four years held an average of higher than .300
with the bat and who in addition played in not less than seven different positions while a big leaguer
and with seven different big league clubs, was elected recently to the somewhat distinguished position of mayor of Morgantown, one of West Virginia's most thriving cities, which boasts a population of between 15,000 and 20, 000 and which is the seat of West Virginia university.

Hickman started out playing baseball
there in 1896, went from Morgantown
to Newcast, Pa., in the old Interstate,
then for three years with the Boston Nationals, two years with the New

EVOLVED FLYING WEDGE FROM MILITARY TACTICS

LORIN E. DELAND, who as a senior coach of Harvard football teams twenty years ago originated the "flying wedge," died at his home in Boston. He was sixty-two years old. Mr. Deland said that the play which revolutionized the football game was an application of military tactics
based especially on Napoleon's methods of turning an enemy's flank. His wife, who is best known under her pen name, Mur-gar, Deland, survives him.

York Giants, now as a third baseman,
then to the newly organized Boston American league team, then three years at Cleveland, where he played at first base; then a year at Detroit in the outfield, two and a half years with the Washington American league team,
half a year with the Chicago White Sox, back to Cleveland for a year, and then three years with the Toledo American association team, after which he said goodbye to the diamond game as a player forever.

SAY TRIS SPEAKER IS MOST STYLISH BATTER

But Players Don't Think He'll Finish Above Cobb.

Of all the present day baseball players are inclined to award the finest batting style to Tris Speaker, says Grantland Rice. "I have never seen any one hit the ball as Speaker did last season," remarked one of the Yankee veterans. "Every hit that he got was a clean, hard wallop. And even when he failed to make a hit he walloped the ball and generally drove it with a smash either to an infielder or an outfielder. But whether he made a hit or not he was hitting the ball and hitting it on the nose. It was a wonderful thing to lead Ty Cobb for six consecutive months at bat, but an even more wonderful thing to keep on hitting the ball as Speaker did from April to October without a slump. Whether he can maintain this pace another year is another matter. But you can gamble if he does he will not only lead the field again, but will be up above .400 for the season."

Admitting Speaker's greatness at bat,
ball players are not willing to pick him as a 1917 victor over Cobb. They agree on not only Cobb's greater speed,
but his aggressiveness and determination, and they know with what a rush
he is going back to gain his old place at the top. Under present circumstances the best hope seems to be, as the players themselves see it, that the Speaker-Cobb gamble will be a very close affair, possibly closer than last season's great duel, where Speaker led by fifteen points, a matter of only four or five extra hits in 150 games.

Young Hickman a Speeder.

Young Hickman, the Brooklyn's extra outfielder, is said to be the fastest runner in the big leagues. He is rather short and thick set, but he can fly over the ground when he gets under full headway. Hickman's great speed enabled him to get under a terrific drive from George Burns' bat in the fourteenth inning of a recent game. He caught the ball on the left field foul line a few feet in front of the wooden fence and ended the game. Hickman also sprang to victory after Burns' tremendous drive in the twelfth that he probably prevented a home run,
which would have decided the battle
then and there.

Another Coveloskie Coming.

Stanley Coveloskie, pitcher with the Cleveland Americans, whose brother
Harry is a star hurler with the Detroit club, has another brother who, Stanley believes, has a better arm than either Harry or himself. "John is his name, and he can slum the ball around with terrible speed," Stanley said. "He should have been a pitcher, but somebody told him he was an infielder, and he believes it. That's why he's still in the minors."

Here and There.

at Mure Island, California, is allowed to play golf accompanied by a marine guard.

DON'T PLOW UP TENNIS COURTS

Soil Not Good For Raising Food
Crops, State Expert Says; Golf Links Full of Worms.

Local tennis clubs that might have considered plowing up their courts
and utilizing the ground for planting
may not think so much of the idea
after reading the opinion of a state college agricultural expert, printed below. Tennis court soil is not fitted to raise anything much except some weeds, he says. Golf links as a rendezvous for worms of all sorts are also not suitable for planting.
The expert says, although they would provide good grazing ground for cattle.

Read the following before you
plow up the tennis court:
"The role of the tennis court is to provide a form of vigorous exercise and healthful recreation rather than to grow corn, potatoes or green vegetables. Like the golf links it should continue to serve the purpose for which it was originally intended."

"The average tennis court, composed as it is largely of heavy clay soil, does not offer a suitable home for garden products. Granting that one could plow or space it effectively, it must be borne in mind that the tennis court soil is practically devoid of humus or vegetable matter, so essential to the growth of plants and that it would be a matter of several years to put it into a state of cultivation."

"The ordinary golf links which has been in use for a number of years
is a paradise for cutworms, wireworms
and grub worms, all of them enemies
of corn and other fibrous-rooted crops.
If golf links are utilized for agriculture, why not use them to pasture
cattle?"

"Better save the tennis courts and golf links for recreation purposes.
Work in the backyard garden will be easier for an occasional hour of play.
Not only children but grown-ups need playground spaces."

Clean, sharp, distinguishable explosions. No misses. And every explosion a power-impulse that finds instant response in the rear wheels, whizzing driver and driven through space with a new sensation of motion.

Mayhap you're off the speed-thing, but comes a time when every motorist wants, must have, a "little more speed"—and it's mighty good to have a little more speed up your sleeve at such times.

Atlantic Gasoline gives you the reserve speed,
the extra power, you occasionally want. So, get

12 to 15% Extra Weight

WHEN you buy your next tire make this simple test. Let us weigh a Michelin Universal Tire in comparison with any other non-skid of the same size.

You will find the Michelin 12 to exact percentage depending on the size of the tires used in the test.

This extra weight represents extra rubber and fabric,
which means extra service.

CHOATE ACTIVE IN PUBLIC WORK UNTIL THE END OF HIS LONG LIFE

This photograph of the late Joseph H. Choate, famous lawyer and statesman, who has just died at his New York home at the age of 85, is probably the last ever made of Mr. Choate. He was "snapped" as he rode with Arthur J. Balfour after welcoming the English statesman to New York. In spite of his advanced age Mr. Choate acted as active head of the reception committee. He is seen at the right of picture.

PREFERENCE GIVEN COAL AND ORE WILL IMPEDE OPERATION

the Opinion of Railroad Officials Who Know the Situation.

ROB OTHER INDUSTRIES

Of Gondola Cars If the Order is Generally Complied With: Furnaces
Would be Without Coke and Limestone, Such as Necessary as Iron Ore

The ruling just made by the Council of National Defense that the railroads shall supply shippers of ore and coal with gondola cars to 100 per cent of their requirements before allotting such equipment for other uses and allot any surplus to shippers of other commodities pro rata in conformity with their requirements will, in the opinion of well-informed Pittsburgh transportation men, prove a boomerang.

This is deduced from the fact that under the old order the carriers, those of the Pittsburgh district at least, where more coal and ore are used in manufactures than anywhere else in the country, are unable to supply their patrons, whether shippers or consumers of those particular commodities, or both, or others, with more than 50 per cent of their requirements, says A. Layman, railroad editor of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

In the circumstances, therefore, the railroads will be compelled to deliver all of their gondolas to the coal and ore shippers to the exclusion of others, leaving finished products to accumulate in warehouses and mill yards for lack of transportation facilities to forward them to market. The furnaces, for example, will be assured of an abundant supply of ore, but no provision is made by the council's order for the transportation thereto of the limestone and coke which are equally essential elements in the production of the iron ore into pig iron, and any for the transportation of the limestone and coke which are equally essential elements in the production of the iron ore into pig iron, and any for the transportation of the limestone and coke which are equally essential elements in the production of the iron ore into pig iron.

Meanwhile, too, despite the imperative demand for plates for use in shipbuilding at this juncture, thousands of tons of such material already rolled and awaiting shipment must continue to wait while ore is moving in unlimited supply from docks to furnaces and coal from mines to docks. The situation that impends is depicted by a highly-placed traffic official of one of the railroads operating into Pittsburgh as an endless chain of circumstances being forged link by link and involving the manufacturing industries of the country in an inextricable maze.

Having secured the issuance of the order, the furnace interests will be benefited, doubtless, but the benefits will be negligible, if not wholly negative. Hence, in view of the continued shortage of freight equipment, Pittsburgh railroad men endorse the suggestion that the government commandeer the car-building plants of the country, as well as the shipyards, in order to insure the prompt transportation from the mills of the materials requisite for shipbuilding.

Complying with the order to give coal and ore preference over all other traffic, the Lehigh Valley railroad, announces a considerable curtailment of its passenger service, adding that such changes as shall be made will avoid, so far as possible, inconvenience to patrons. The Lehigh Valley is one of the principal coal and ore-carrying roads of the country and will be affected by the order as adversely as any other and more so than most lines.

HEARING HELD.

No Decision in Extradition Case Against Birdseyes Until Wednesday.

ALBANY, May 17.—An application for the extradition from New York to Pennsylvania for Clarence F. Birdseye and Kelok Birdseye, charged with conspiracy in connection with the recent alleged irregularities in the management and control of the Pittsburgh Life & Trust Company which have thrown the company into the hands of the state insurance commissioner, was heard today by Governor Whitman.

At the conclusion he announced he would make no decision before next Wednesday.

"Coal Cards" in Holland.
Holland is so short of coal that the government is preparing to distribute it by a rationing system next winter. Importations of coal by sea virtually have stopped and Holland is not receiving more than half its normal imports from Germany.

Thinning Garden Plants

It is better to have one strong plant than several weak, spindling ones, says today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, of Washington, which is cooperating with The Courier in urging food garden planting to cut the cost of living.

That means thorough thinning in the young rows, continues the bulletin. Seeds of most plants are sown more thickly than the plants should grow. This is because not all seeds have the germ of life within them, and it is desirable to plant a surplus so as to insure a sufficient number of plants.

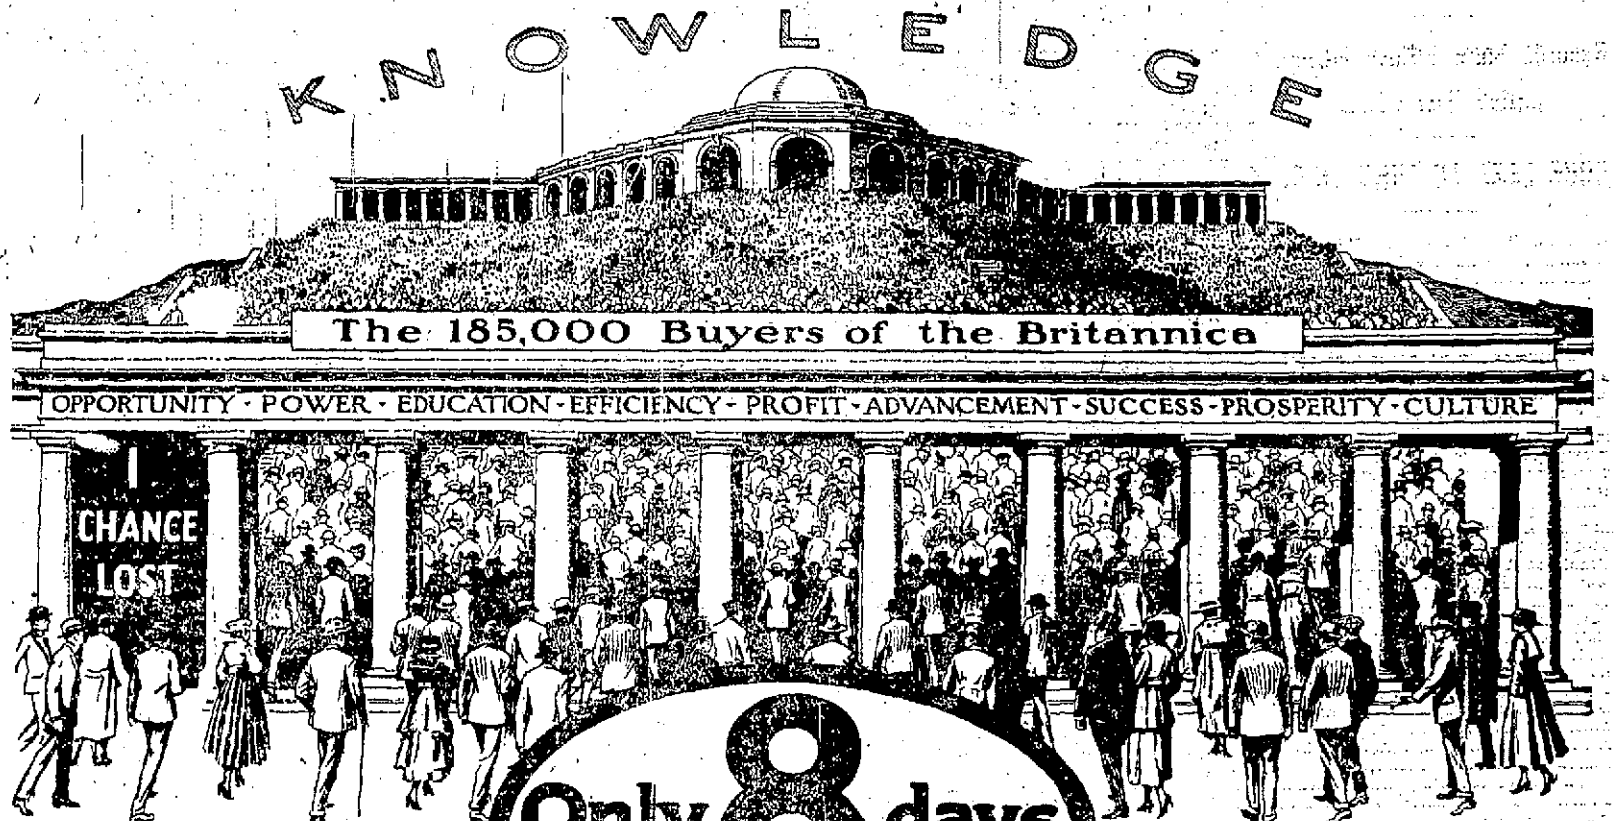

But when these plants, often coming up thickly together, are big enough to thin, hold of them should be thinned out severely. It may seem heartless to destroy many good plants, but those remaining will give a greater crop of a better quality than all the plants would produce if left to grow.

Thin enough so that the roots of every plant have plenty of room to spread out and seek the plant food in the soil. By having the monopoly of all the food within its little area, the plant will grow vigorously. This explains why it is important to keep out all weeds which attempt to share this plant food with the valuable vegetable.

When the plants come up, if the seed has been sown thickly there will be numerous thick bunches of plants together. In thinning it is usually better to pull out the plants in the centers of these bunches.

Ordinarily leave the best plants and pull the weaker ones, but this plan may have to be modified occasionally to insure sufficient spacing between plants. Each plant must have enough room to grow in. Thin the plants to these distances:

Careots, two inches; celery, six inches; endive, eight inches; kale, 12 inches; kohi-rabi, six inches; lettuce, eight inches; parsley, four inches; parsnips, three inches; peas, two inches; radish, two inches; cauliflower, two inches; spinach, three inches; turnip, three inches.

printed on genuine India paper

SATURDAY, MAY 26th, one week from tomorrow, and possibly a day before, will end forever your opportunity of owning, in its most useful and usable form, the greatest reference work ever published. NOW—today—you can make a first payment of only $1.00 (to be followed by convenient, small monthly payments for a limited period) and the entire set of 29 volumes will be sent you—to use and profit by while you are paying for them. When the last set is sold you will NEVER have another opportunity of buying the Britannica printed on India paper. Knowledge of facts is the greatest power in the world today. It is the thing that marks the difference between the day laborer and the merchant prince, between the clerk and the general manager, between the cabin boy and the captain.

All the world's knowledge—the facts about every trade, every profession, every art, every industry, every science, is summed up and set down for your use, for the use of your wife, for the use of your boys and girls, in the 29 volumes of The Encyclopaedia Britannica. You cannot own and use these books without growing in knowledge, without increasing your ability, your earning capacity, your intellectual caliber.

Today—NOW—you can buy
this wonderful opportunity for Advancement, Power, Education, Efficiency, Profit, Success, Culture and Prosperity for

$1 down and as little as $3.00
a month (for the cloth binding) for a limited period. If you wait, you will NEVER be able to buy.

You haven't any time to lose. You simply must look this question squarely in the face and decide it. Will you buy the Britannica NOW and have, at your finger ends, the practical advantage—the actual, positive facts that cover all the achievements of all men from the beginning of the world; all the facts that are known about the world; all the facts about the things men make with their hands and with machines; all the facts about every product in the world, its uses, how it is made, how it is used and where it comes from, the people that produce it or manipulate it; all the facts about every country, its history, development; the biography of every notable man and woman; all the facts about the discoveries of every science—will you have these things as your tools to make success for yourself, your wife and your children, or will you let this chance slip and NEVER have another?

The New York Times said, "The Encyclopaedia Britannica is something more than a book—it is an institution."

We do not want even one of these last few sets to go to any one who is not positive that he will find the Britannica useful and helpful to him and his family. There will not be nearly enough sets to supply all those who do know the Britannica will be useful, and who are ordering today, tomorrow and in the next few days.

Do not order unless you know!

But, if you are almost convinced and want to make sure the Britannica will be of practical use and help to you in your business and in your home, go at once to the store named below. Here you can see the entire set of the Britannica, you can prove the value and usefulness of this work to your own needs. (If you go today you may have a choice of bindings.) You can leave your order there and pay cash, or $1.00 down and the complete set will be sent you as quickly as possible.

If you already know the value of the Britannica to you, or if you cannot go to the store named below but are convinced you need the Britannica, sign the "Reserve Order" form printed here, pin a one-dollar bill to it, and get it into the mail AT ONCE.

The END of the Sale is HERE!!

Decide NOW, for you will NEVER have another opportunity like this

This sale must end because we cannot get from the publishers any more sets of the "Handy Volume" issue of the Britannica, printed on genuine India paper.

The publishers cannot print any more sets because they cannot get any more genuine India paper.

This is because the war has made it impossible for the paper makers to obtain two essential raw materials for making India paper, a certain quality of flax from Belgium, Germany or Ireland and hemp from Russia. It will be impossible to secure these materials in sufficient quantities for many years after the war—therefore the Britannica can never be printed in the "Handy Volume" form again.

Sets can be seen and orders left at:

"I was intending to go on up to the mines with father," she said evenly. "But last evening, while I was waiting for him to finish his talk with some mining men, I was standing in the mezzanine, looking down into the lobby. I saw you go to the desk and leave your key; I was sure I couldn't be mistaken, so I told father that I had changed my mind about going out to the mines and he seemed greatly relieved. He had been trying to persuade me that I would be much more comfortable if I should wait for him here."

It was no stirring of belated sentiment that made Smith say: "You— you cared enough to wish to see me?"

"Naturally," she replied. "Some people forget easily; others don't. I suppose I am one of the others."

Smith remembered the proverb about a woman scorned and saw a menace more to be feared than all the terrors of the law lurking in the event-told rejoinder. It was with some foolish idea of thrusting the menace aside at any cost that he said: "You have only to send a ten-cent telegram to Sheriff Muncieley, you know. I'm not sure that it isn't your duty to do so."

"But You Believe Me Guilty, Don't You?"

"Why should you telegraph Barton Muncieley?" she asked placidly. "I'm not one of his deputies."

The handsome shoulders twitched in the barest hint of indifference. "As I have said, I am not in Barton Muncieley's employ—nor in Mr. Watrous Dunham's. Neither am I the judge and jury to put you in the prisoner's box and try you. I suppose you know what you were doing, and why you did it. But I do think you might have written me a line, Montague. That would have been the least you could have done."

For some time afterward the talk was not resumed. Miss Richlander was apparently enjoying her dinner. Smith was not enjoying his, but he ate as a troubled man often will; mechanically and as a matter of routine. It was not until the dessert had been served that the young woman took up the thread of the conversation precisely as if it had never been dropped.

"I think you know that you have no reason to be afraid of me, Montague; but I can't say as much the father. He will be back in a few days, and when he comes it will be prudent for you to vanish. That is a future, however."

Smith's laugh was brittle.

"We'll leave it a future, if you like. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

"Oh; so you class me as an evil, do you?"

"No; you know I didn't mean that. I merely mean that it's no use crossing the bridges before we come to them. I've been living from day to day, as long now, that I am becoming hard ended to it."

Again there was a pause, and again it was Miss Richlander who broke it. "The slow smile was slipping again at the corners of the beautiful mouth."

upstairs. I'm going to find out who the girl is, since you want to know."

CHAPTER XIV.

Broken Threads.

Mr. Crawford Stanton at last went upstairs to rejoin the splendid lady, who was taking her after-dinner case in the most comfortable lounging chair, the mezzanine parlors afforded.

"No good," he reported. "The girl's name is Richlander, and she—or her father—comes from one of half a dozen 'Lawrencevilles'—you can take your choice among 'em."

"Money?" queried the comfortable one.

"Buying mines in the Topaz," said the husband mechanically. He was not thinking specially of Mr. Josiah Richlander's possible or probable rating with the commercial agencies; he was wondering how well Miss Richlander knew John Smith, and in what manner she could be persuaded to tell what she might know. While he was musing it over in his mind the two in question, Smith and the young woman, passed through the lobby on their way to the theater, Stanton, watching them narrowly from the vantage-point afforded by the gallery mezzanine, drew his own conclusions. By all the little signs they were not merely chance acquaintances or even casual friends. Their relations were closer—and of longer standing.

Stanton puzzled over his problem a long time, long after Mrs. Stanton had forsaken the easy chair and had disappeared from the scene. His Eastern employers were growing increasingly impatient. Who was this fellow Smith, and what was his backing? They were beginning to ask; and with the asking there were intimations that if Mr. Crawford Stanton were finding his task too difficult, there was always an alternative.

Stanton was still wrestling with his problem when the "handsome couple" returned from the play. The trust field captain saw them as they crossed the lobby to the elevator and again marked the little evidences of familiarity. "That settles it," he mused, with an outburst of the pugnacious jaw. "She knows more about Smith than anybody else in this neck of woods—and she's got it to tell!"

Stanton began his inquiry for better information the following day, with the bejeweled lady for his ally. Miss Richlander was alone and unattended in the hotel—and also a little bored. Hence she was easy of approach; so easy that by luncheon time the sharp promoter's wife was able to introduce her husband. Stanton lost no moment in his investigation. For the inquiring purpose, Smith was made to figure as a business acquaintance, and Stanton was generous in his praise of the young man's astounding financial ability.

"He's simply a wonder, Miss Richlander," he cooed over the luncheon cable. "Coming here a few weeks ago, absolutely unknown, he has already become a prominent man of affairs in Brewster. And so discreetly reticent! To this good day nobody knows where he comes from, or anything about him."

"No?" said Miss Verin. "How singular!" But she did not volunteer to supply any of the missing biographical facts.

"Absolutely nothing," Stanton went on smoothly. "And, of course, his silence about himself has been grossly misinterpreted. I have even heard it said that he is an escaped convict."

"How perfectly absurd!" was the smiling comment.

"Isn't it? But you know how people will talk. They are saying now that "He is an Escaped Convict."

his name isn't Smith; that he has merely taken the commonest name in the category as an alias."

"I can contradict that, anyway," Miss Richlander offered. "His name is really and truly John Smith."

"You have known him a long time, haven't you?" inquired the lady with the headlight diamonds.

"Oh, yes; for quite a long time, indeed."

"That was back in New York state?" Stanton signed in.

"In the East, yes. He comes of an excellent family. His father's people were well-to-do farmers, and one of his great-uncles on his mother's side was on the supreme bench in our state; he was chief justice during the later years of his life."

"What state did you say?" queried Stanton curiously. But Miss Verin was far too wide-awake to let him surprise her.

"Our home state, of course. I don't believe any member of Mr. Smith's immediate family on either side has ever moved out of it."

Stanton gave it up for the time being, and was convinced upon two points. Smith might have business reasons for secrecy—he might have backers who wished to remain completely unknown in their fight against the big land trust; but if he had no backers the other hypothesis clinched itself instantly—he was in hiding; he had done something from which he had run away.

It was not until after office hours that Stanton was able to reduce his equation to its simplest terms, and it was Shaw, dropping in to make his report after his first day's work as clerk and stenographer in the High Line headquarters, who cleared the air at least one fog bank of doubts.

"I've been through the records, and the stock-books," said the spy, when, in obedience to orders, he had locked the office door. "Smith is playing a lone hand. He flimflamed Kinzie for his first chunk of money, and after that it was easy. Every dollar invested in High Line has been dug up right here in the Timanyoni. Here's the list of stockholders."

Stanton ran his eye down the string of names and swore when he saw Maxwell's subscription of $25,000. "Damn it!" he rasped; "and he's Fairbairn's own son-in-law!"

"So is Starbuck, for that matter; and he's in for twenty thousand," said Shaw. "And, by the way, Bill is a man who will bear watching. He's hand-in-glove with Smith, and he's onto all of our little crooks and turns. I heard him telling Smith today that he owed it to the company to carry a gun."

Stanton's smile showed his teeth. "I wish he would; carry one and kill somebody with it. Then we'd know what to do with him."

The Optimist.

"You're looking blue, doc. What's the matter?"

"Well, I'll tell you. A patient I began to treat died this morning."

"Ah, cheer up. He might have died even if you hadn't been called."—Toldeo Blade.

'Tention Men! To This Clothing News

SEVERAL HUNDRED NEW SPRING SUITS SPECIAL AT $15

Worth 25 Per Cent More Today

Such splendid clothing values as these can't last long. They're too desirable in every way, and men are quick to see the wisdom of buying while our present stock lasts. When it is gone there's no telling what we will have to pay for re-orders.

In this showing special at $15 are men's and young men's styles in Fancy Mixtures, Blue Serges, and Flannels. Belted, Pinch-Back and more conservative models in greens, blues, browns and mixtures. All regular sizes and extra sizes in long, stouts and shorts.

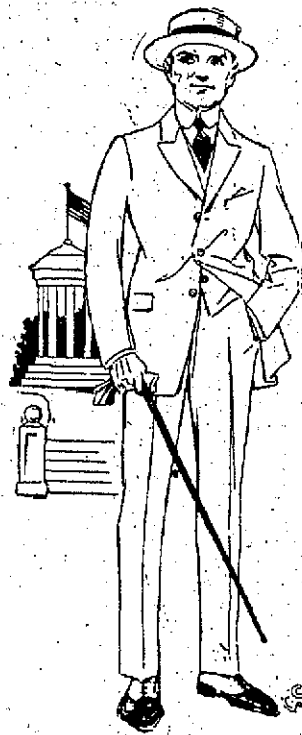

Every Suit worth at least a fourth more today.

SUITS FROM THE WORLD'S BEST MAKERS AT $17.50 TO $35

Spring models from Society Brand, Michael-Stern and Hirsch-Wickwire, faultless in style and tailoring.

Carefully selected patterns and colors. Quality a man can depend on, for it goes clear through.

Fine values at every price with our biggest showing at $20 and $25.

STRAW HATS IN ALL POPULAR SHAPES AT $1.50 TO $6

Feature Showing at $3

Wright-Metzler's headquarters as usual for the newer styles in Summer headgear.

The assortment was never better. More hats, more styles, better values than you will find elsewhere in Connellsville.

LEGHORNS—A fine showing at $3.00 to $5.00.

SAILORS—All dimensions and sizes, $1.50 to $5.00.

PANAMAS—Best values we have ever offered at $5.00 and $6.00.

"TOYOS"—An imitation of Panamas, $3.50 and $4.00.

BOYS' STRAWS—Many styles at $1, $1.50 to $3.50.

UNION MADE WORKING CLOTHES FOR MEN WHO KNOW REAL VALUE

The quantity of Union Made Working Clothes we show, and their excellent quality surprise most men when they call for the first time.

Working Pants in corduroy and other good fabrics. Overalls, Jackets, and many other items. Sturdily made for service. Skillfully designed to furnish good looks along with the service. Priced just as moderate as any store could sell them.

Fly a Flag!

With scores of patriotic customers crowding us for flags, we are not allowing ourselves to forget that our quality standard must be upheld even if we are sometimes compelled to ask our customers to wait until we can secure further supplies of the proper merchandise.

A big new shipment has just arrived and we now have all wanted sizes and quantities.

Our wool flags are all-wool, standard quality; sizes and workmanship right. Our cotton bunting flags are made of bunting—not sheeting, the stars are sewed—not printed, so are the stripes. We guarantee the colors.

Our silk flags are of a good American silk. Flags for Decoration Day and 'The Fourth' should be purchased now.

Coming—May White Sale!

The May White Sale for 1917 will be a typical Wright-Metzler event, with larger stocks, fresher stocks, more varied stocks and greater savings than any similar event elsewhere could possibly offer you. The White Sale will be a sensible and economical time to secure all white needs for months to come. So remember the first day—

Wednesday, May 23rd

This sale will be well worth waiting for, as every department having anything of White to offer will contribute its share. Big savings will be the rule, with Gold Bond Stamps as an additional reduction.

The NEW EDISON

All the wonderful inventive genius and power of the world's master inventor has gone into this wonder machine, which bears his name. Just as his other achievements excel all others in the field, so does the NEW EDISON excel all other instruments for the reproduction of music.

Diamond Stylus No Needles to Change

Besides doing away with all annoyance and bother of changing needles, Mr. Edison's diamond reproducer gives a clarity of tone obtained on no other instrument. So faithfully does it reproduce both vocal and instrumental selections that even this country's foremost music critics were unable to distinguish between the original and the new Edison's Re-Creation.

You Are Invited

to hear the New Edison any day in our Edison Department, second floor annex.
